

Holidays

Look at these holiday snaps from the past.

This image shows people on holiday at Barry Island beach. Barry was a favourite destination for families from valleys coal communities, and was sometimes called 'the Blackpool of South Wales'.

Questions:

Do you remember spending time on the beach?

Photo: David Hurn

This group of people are on a trip to Porthcawl in the 1920s. Coney Beach can be seen in the background. This amusement park was built to entertain American troops returning from the First World War. It was named as a tribute to Coney Island New York.

Questions:

Did you enjoy the funfair?

OBJECTS OF COMFORT

#objectsofcomfort

This postcard is postmarked New Quay, Cardiganshire, 1920. It was sent to an address in Church Village.

Holiday Guide 1949

Souvenir from Aberystwyth.

Questions:

Where did you go for summer holidays?

What's the best holiday you've ever been on?

What would be your dream holiday destination?

Can you remember buying a holiday souvenir?